Time. 413 left the track in a bad humor. The defeat of the choice in this feature was another contributing cause for THIRD RACE Selling; two-year-old filles; purse, the talent to be disgruntled, and, coupled with the very bad ride that Mc-Taggart put up on Corn Tassel, made many of the oldtimers threw up their hands and ask how long these exhibitions are to continue.

The Prospect Handicap drew out a fairly good field of thre-year-olds to compete for the $565 purse. Corn Tassel was rightfully made the favorite and should have rewarded his backers by winning easily. But McTaggart rode a very bad race on him.

should have won easily.

The start in the fifth race ruined whatever chance Orderly, the favorite, had. He was off very poorly, and the rider, overanxious, rushed him up so fast as to take the lead on the turn. But when the field straightened out for the run through the stretch the early offer the deally directly tired hadly and effort told. Orderly tired badly and finished outside of the money. The race was won by Dancer, a long shot.

Kashmir Wins Last Race H. C. Hallenbeck's recently ac-uired Kashmir finally graduated from the maiden ranks, when he easily won the last race of the day. He was at prohibitive odds, and, taking the lead

The steeplechase, under selling handicap conditions, was won by Northwood. Man Slayer, the favorite, fenced in poor shape and was beaten through his inability to take the jumps.

K. O. Bill Brennan, the mick with the awful wallop, will take on Jack Clifford, the strong boy of Brocklyn, and goodness knows what will happen. These mussy heavyweights have been matched three times before, but something has always prevented their boxing. Perhaps one of the two will remain quiet for a week or two after tomain quiet for a week or two after to-night's bout. We hope so.

Wouldn't it be funny, to every one but Morris, if he should be put on the Aqueduct Entries
